

Table with multiple columns including dates, company names, and various identification numbers. The table is organized in vertical columns, with the first column containing dates and the subsequent columns containing company names and alphanumeric codes.

